About the Program

The SISU Chinese Government Scholarship (Type B) comprises two sub-programs: the "High-level Graduate" program, which selects international students of strong academic background and potential to pursue Master's / PhD degrees (individual application, institutional recommendation, expert review, merit-based admission), and the "SilkRoad" program supporting professional talent in priority fields of Belt & Road countries. In the application stage the two sub-programs are not differentiated— same opening, same deadline, same exams. Final results are subject to the expert review of the China Scholarship Council (CSC).

Important Notes

1. Applicants may not simultaneously receive other scholarships from the Chinese government or host institution (excluding one-off awards); concealing funding results in disqualification and a 3-year ban on re-application.
2. Uploaded documents (except photos) must be clear, authentic PDF files; professional scanning is advised.
3. Each applicant has only ONE review opportunity for Type B: a recommended candidate eliminated in the expert review ends their B-type application for that year.
4. Provide a valid email and phone; monitor SISU status: "已接手/Accepted" = under processing; "材料不全退回/Returned – incomplete" = revise per feedback and resubmit before the deadline.
5. The scholarship cannot be deferred; failure to register on time revokes admission and the scholarship; bring original documents for verification by the Graduate School at registration.
6. Awardees may not change institution, major or study duration after arrival; they must pass the annual scholarship review or risk suspension/cancellation.
